From the Cincinnati Mirror.

THE USED UP.

The jig is up; I have been dung,
Sky high—and worse than that,
The girl whose praises I have sung,
With pen, with pencil, and with tongue,
Said "No," and I fell flat.

Now I will neither roar nor rant,
Nor my hard fate deplore;
Why should a fellow look askant,
If one girl says she won't or can't,
While there's so many more?

I strove my best—it would not do,
I told her she'd regret;
She'd ruin my heart and chances too,
As girls don't like those fellows who
Their walking papers get.

In truth I loved her very well,
And thought that she loved me,
The reason why I cannot tell—
But when I wooed this pretty bell—
'Twas a mistake in me.

She's dark of eyes—and her sweet smile,
Like some of which I've read,
Is false—for she, with softest guile,
Lured me 'mong rocks, near love's bright
Isle,
And then she—cut me dead.

My vanity was wounded sore
And that I hate the worst;
You see, a haughty look I wore
And thought she could not but adore
Of all men, me the first.

Well, thank the fates, once more I'm free—
At every shrine I'll bow;
And if again a girl cheats me,
Exceeding sharp, I guess she'll be,
I've cut my eye-teeth now.

Oh, like the bumble bee I'll rove
Just when and where I please—
Inhaling sweets from every grove,
Humming around each flower I love,
And dancing in each breeze.

THE SUMMER WEB.

(BY THOMAS MOORE.)

The Summer Webs that float and shine,
The Summer dews that fall,
Tho' light they be, this heart of mine
Is lighter than them all.

It tells me every cloud is past
Which lately seem'd to lower,
That Hope hath wed young Joy at last,
And now's their nuptial hour.

With light thus round, within above,
With nought to wake one sigh,
Except the wish that all we love,
Were at this moment nigh.

It seems as if Life's brilliant sun
Had stopped in full career,
To make this hour its brightest one,
And rest in radiance here.

COTTON SEED OIL.—Messrs. CLARK and MEAD of this City, have been for some time engaged in the construction of an Oil Mill, on Neuse River, in this vicinity, to be propelled by water power. In a few weeks, the Machinery will be in operation. The Oil expressed from Cotton Seed, is said to be equal to the Sperm for lamps. It burns with a clear, brilliant light, without any unpleasant odour, and is less affected by cold weather. As a Paint Oil, it is said to be a very superior article, and cold pressed and clarified, it is pronounced equal to the Olive Oil for Salads. This manufacture is quite a desideratum to our Farmers, also, as from each bale of Cotton comes about 30 bushels of Seed, and every 3 bushels of Seed yield, at least, two gallons of Oil. Rating the Seed at 10 cents a bushel, therefore, each bale will produce to the grower $3 more than the selling price of the staple itself.—Register.

Judge Edwards, of New-York.—The late decision of Judge Edwards, on the trial of the Journeymen Tailors of that city, on the charge of a conspiracy, is an outrage upon the rights and liberties of every laboring man in the United States, and is of such a heinous character, that the author of it deserves to be held up to the scorn and contempt of every citizen who loves his liberty. In the opinion of this patriotic Judge, to make out the charge of a conspiracy, it was not necessary to prove that two or more of the journeymen had combined to deter others from working at such prices as they pleased—but the bare fact of two or more agreeing not to labor for less than certain prices which they might agree upon, among themselves, was a foul combination, or conspiracy, for which they were liable to fine and imprisonment! That such a doctrine should be promulgated by a Judge of any State in this Union, is highly creditable to our institutions, and is derogatory to our characters as lovers of liberty, and extreme humbling, and that it should be proclaimed from the bench of the Democratic State of New-York, is very extraordinary. In Connecticut, although it has until lately been a Federal State, of the strictest sect, we venture the assertion, that no one of its Judges who should be guilty of making such a decision, would be permitted to disgrace the Bench for a longer period than to the meeting of the succeeding Legislature. No, the Democracy of this State would never permit idle speculators of such an outrage upon the rights of our laboring fellow citizens.

Theatrical Wit.—At Burton's benefit on Saturday night, notwithstanding the sultriness of the day and evening, the house was crowded. All the entertainments went off very well, and as usual, Burton kept the audience in an open-mouthed uproar of merriment half the time. When the curtain finally dropped, he was loudly called for, and at last coming forward, he spoke these words, which were immediately taken down by us in pencil.

"Ladies and Gentlemen, I have nothing to offer but the oft repeated tale of 'thanks.'"

"Ladies and Gentlemen!—it has been such a very hot day, that it was really more than I expected, to see you muster so strong. At least you have had a warm reception. [laughter] They say that every dog must have his day. [cheers] I suppose these are my dog days. [cheers of applause.] At all events, after having so frequently experienced your kindness, I shall never be the ungrateful puppy to turn round and bark at you!" [Here the cheering was tremendous, and lasted for some time after Mr. Burton had made his bow and retired.] [Phil. Gaz.]

How to cheat the Doctor.—Some years since, a physician was called to a young woman very sick. After a careful examination, he left her two kinds of the powders contained opium, and when administered, produced quiet to the patient; the other was something nauseating, and the patient was less quiet under its operation. A convention of the women in the neighborhood was held, and addressed by one of their number in this wise: You see just how it is—the doctor must have a living, and must get it by his trade—one kind of powders makes her better, the other makes her worse. If he only gave the good kind he would soon cure her—so that in either case, he would have but a small bill—that is why he gives her two kinds. Now let us act according to common sense, in disregard of the doctor's orders, whose interest it is to keep her along, let us give her only the good powders. This proposition was well received and after an amendment at the suggestion of another, who proposed giving two of the good powders at a time, was adopted. The patient was easy and slept quietly under the operation, but she never awoke.—Bangor Ado.

PAT PLAYING THE YANKEE.

Not many months since, a general muster of militia and regulars was called by the Governor of Lower Canada, near the town of Halifax. His Excellency called together the officers who composed the "regulars," told them to prepare for a fine day's sport; that he had ordered a troop of militia (50 men) composed of Irishmen, to play the "Yankee" at a sham fight in the afternoon, and that "His Majesty's regulars" would have fine sport transferring the "Irish Yankees," in the character of prisoners of war, from the field of battle into a neighbor log-house, which was converted for the time being into a guard-house.

The Pats, commanded by a truly original character, named John Morris, issued forth at the appointed time and formed themselves into line two feet deep on an elevated spot near the town; their valiant leader at the same time, exhorted them to stand firm, mind his orders, and play the game as "real Yankees should," and even give the "Lobsters" a taste of cold steel rather than submit to become prisoners.

The "regulars," consisting of 200 men formed some 300 feet from the sham Yankees, and commenced a regular peppering of musketry, which was returned with promptitude by the Pats. At this stage of the action, the "regulars" were observed to extend their line, in order to surround the enemy; but our hero, Morris, ordered to "charge bayonets," without any particular injunction not to hurt the foe. His Majesty's regulars thought the most prudent course was to give "leg bail" for their valor, by performing a retrograde movement at a brisk trot. But Morris was not to be cheated in this manner.—He pursued the retreating red coats, and could not resist the temptation of repeatedly vociferating "Hurra for Jackson!" until he succeeded in taking 50 prisoners, among whom was his excellency who ransomed himself and his fellow prisoners, by paying for a dinner, of which 200 Pats partook, in honor of the victory. It is but fair to say that they conducted their prisoners into town, playing alternately, Yankee Doodle and that soul stirring air Garry Owen.—Detroit Free Press

$50 REWARD.

RUNAWAY, from the subscriber, in Granville county, (N. C.) on the 20th June, a negro man named GID, about 21 years old, of yellow complexion, (tho' not very bright), about 5 feet 2 or 3 inches high, weighing about 150 or 160 lbs. His front teeth, it is believed, are a little decayed on the edges. He is quick spoken and shows the whites of his eyes plainly, when he looks at you. He took with him a plain mixed frock coat, vest and pantaloons of domestic cloth; also a dark mixed vest, and dark brown (approaching black) homespun pantaloons, with a decent fur'd black hat, &c. He is a keen sensible fellow, of remarkably bad temper and disposition, and has, in consequence of it marks of the lash upon his back.

It is believed that he will either endeavor to pass as a free man (and probably has a free pass even at this time) or pretend to belong to and pass in company with some man or woman, who may be taking him off clandestinely to sell him in some of the Western or Southern States, or be taking him to some free State. And from some circumstances which recently took place between him and a pedlar (a related by negroes since he absconded) I should not be surprised if he were advised and befriended in some way by the pedlar. The above reward of fifty dollars will be given to any person who will apprehend him and confine him in any jail with this State, so that I can get him again; or six dollars if without the State.

SHOCCO SPRINGS.

THIS well known Watering place, situated in Warren county, North Carolina, will be ready for the reception of Company by the 15th inst. The Medicinal qualities of the Water are so fully established, that it is considered unnecessary to say anything in proof of their efficacy.

Rooms have been prepared with places for invalids, and the attention will be omitted that can, in any way, conduce to the comfort of Visitors.

May 1, 1836. — ANN JOHNSON, till 10th July.

Shocco Springs.

HAYWOOD applied to the celebrated Dr. Mitchell, of Philadelphia, Professor of Chemistry &c. for an analysis of the water of Shocco Springs, he has after much care sent me the following statement of its mineral qualities:

Carbonic acid gas in a pint of water 2 2-15
Oxygen Gas 12-105
Nitrogen Gas 3 23-85

I also holds in solution, Murate of Magnesia, Sulphate of Magnesia, (Epsom Salts), Carbonate of Lime, and Sulphate of Lime.

It may, therefore, be classed among the Acidulous and Saline Waters, and recommended as a dispeptic and corroborative.

LAND FOR SALE.

THE subscriber, intending to remove to the West, wishes to sell his land in Wake Forest, joining the lands of Mrs. Phillips, Cyrus Whitaker and John Ligon Esqrs. containing five hundred and fifty or six hundred acres, part of which is first rate wood land, with a sufficient quantity of open land, which is fresh, to work 6 or 10 hands to advantage. It is well adapted to the culture of cotton, corn, and other productions, with a comfortable dwelling and convenient out houses on it. The land is located in a healthy section of the country, as good society as the State affords, and the water inferior to none.

Persons wishing to remove from the lower section of the State, for the benefit of their health, are requested to call on the subscriber, and examine the land, &c. as a bargain will be given to the purchaser.
